ARCOS DE LA FRONTERA AND ITS SURROUNDINGS

Arcos is located in the northeast of the province of Cádiz. Its area covers 525,4 square kilometers. Its geographical location is as follows: 36°44'33" north latitude and 2°07'074" west longitude.

There are more than 30.000 inhabitants who are distributed throughout the center of the city and its different rural areas. The average temperature is 18°. The maximum temperatures range between 38° and 43° and the minimum between 6° and 14°.

Arcos is the typical mountain town. It's born on a series of cliffs on the right bank of the Guadalete River and forms this river in its middle course in a wide meander.

Its more than three thousand hours of sunshine a year, together with its incomparable beauty, make Arcos the ideal place to rest.

HOW TO GET

Arcos is located in the center of the province of Cádiz and is easily accessible.

Good roads link Arcos with the rest of Andalusia and with many interesting places: the Bay of Cádiz, with fine golden sand beaches, is less than an hour far away; Jerez, just twenty minutes far away; and Seville, the capital of Andalusía, is one hour far away.

The main road is the A-382 highway that connects directly with the N-IV (Cádiz- Madrid), with the A-4 highway, and also with the A-393 regional road (Espera-Cruce de las Cabezas-Sevilla).

Of course, Arcos is an authentic stop on the Route of the White Villages along the A-372.
